(d) ‘ADR person’ means a person who may undertake ADR under section 11 of the Act;

(e) “Code” means the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (V of 1898)

(f) “conciliation” means a process where a person encourages the parties to resolve their disputes voluntarily and includes advising possible solution and terms of settlement to them;

(g) ‘court’ means a criminal court or a civil court having original jurisdiction under any law for the time being in force.

(h) “Government” means Government of the Balochistan;

(i) “mediation” means a process where a mediator facilitates dispute resolution by encouraging communication and negotiation between the parties;

(j) “prescribed” means prescribed by the rules made under the Act;

(k) “rules” means the rules made under the Act; and

(l) ‘settlement’ means the agreement reached between the parties as a result of successful ADR.

3. Reference in civil disputes: – (1) A court shall refer a case mentioned in Schedule I of the Act to ADR within thirty days of appearance of the defendants.

(2) A trial court may refer a case mentioned in Schedule II of the Act to ADR at any time or stage where it is of the view that the case is likely to be resolved through ADR.

(3) The court prior to referring the case to ADR shall ask the parties their opinion as to the referral, and where a reference is made to ADR with the consent of the parties, the court may formulate the points in issue.

(4) In every case where a reference is made to ADR, the court shall provide a time table for completion of ADR proceedings not exceeding 60 days:

provided that the court on the application of both the parties, may extend the time granted for resolution of the case through ADR.

provided further that the total time granted for completion of ADR proceedings shall not exceed 6 months in any case.

(5) The trial of a case referred to ADR shall be postponed till the completion of the time allotted for ADR proceedings under subsection (4).

4. Reference in criminal disputes: – (1) A court shall refer a case falling under section 345(1) of the Code to ADR as follows:

(a) in a case arising out of a police report:

(i) on the application by the concerned public prosecutor with the consent of the complainant at any time before framing of the charge; or

(ii) on its own within seven days of the framing of the charge;

(b) in a case arising out of a complaint, on its own, within seven days of the summoning of the accused

(2) A court may refer a case falling under section 345(2) of the Code to ADR as follows:

(a) in a case arising out of a police report, with the agreement of the public prosecutor concerned, at any time after framing of charge

(b) in cases arising out of a complaint, with the agreement of the parties to the case, at any time after framing of the charge

(3) In every case where a reference is made to ADR under this section, the court shall provide a time period for completion of the ADR proceedings not exceeding ninety days:

provided that the court may, on application of the parties to the case, extend the said time for a further period of 90 days.

(4) The court which makes a referral to ADR under subsection (1) shall postpone the trial of the case till the completion of the time allotted for ADR proceedings under subsection (3) unless there are compelling reasons to proceed with the trial.

(5) A court which makes a referral under subsection (2) shall proceed with the trial in the manner provided by the Code.

5. Power to record evidence during postponement: – (1) Nothing in section 3 or 4 shall prohibit or restrain the court from recording evidence which is likely to become unavailable due to postponement of trial.

(2) The court may order the recording of evidence of such person on its own or on the application of any party to the trial including the public prosecutor.

6. Power to refer a case to ADR at any time: – (1) Nothing in section 3 or 4 shall prohibit or restrain a court from referring a case to ADR at any stage of the case with the consent of the parties.

(2) Where a referral is made under sub section (1), the court may if it thinks fit:

(a) fix a time period for completion of ADR; and

(b) postpone the trial during the period given for completion of ADR proceedings.

7. Selection of ADR person: – (1) The parties to the case may select the person or persons who shall undertake ADR.

(2) Where the parties are unable to agree on one or more persons for conduct of ADR proceedings, the court shall provide a list of accredited ADR service providers or ADR centres to the parties for selection.

(3) Where the parties are unable to arrive at a common decision, the court shall make a reference to an accredited ADR service provider or ADR centre in the prescribed manner.

8. Return to court: – A case referred to ADR shall be returned to the court in the prescribed format on the completion of ADR proceedings or on the expiry of the time provided under section 3 or 4 of the Act whichever is earlier.

9. Confidentiality: – Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the person performing ADR and the parties taking part in the ADR proceedings shall keep all matters confidential relating to such proceedings.

10. Meaningful offer: – Where a meaningful offer is made by a party to a civil dispute and is rejected by the other, the party which rejects the offer shall not be entitled to costs for the suit and the other party shall be entitled to costs.

Explanation: A 'meaningful offer' is an offer which is substantially the same as the decree or order of the court.

11. Who may perform ADR: – (1) ADR under this Act may be undertaken by:

- (a) parties directly;
- (b) counsel of parties;
- (c) one or more persons selected or agreed upon by the parties;
